

The world is not big enough to stand in thespians' way!

A GLOBETROTTING member of the cast and director have not prevented the Downham Stage Two Players from being on schedule for the opening of their latest production.

Director Muriel Hanson is spending two weeks in the United States, and one of the principals, Leslie Bradbury, has only recently returned after a three-month trip to South Africa.

The cast has kept up rehearsals in the absence of the director, with Fran Osborne deputising.

The play, which opens on April 30th in Downham Village Hall, is a farce called "See How They Run", in which there are many more vicars on stage when the play finishes than when it started.

Our picture shows some of the cast

rehearsing: from left, Bob Cleeve, Alex Wildman, Leslie Bradbury, Liz Wrigley, Michael O'Hagan, Terry Till and Pat Hargreave. Eddie Bootle and Tony Brazendaleare also in the cast.

After its April 30th opening, "See How They Run" continues on May 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

(T140403/11)