

84 CHARING CROSS ROAD.... DOWNHAM

Stage Two Downham are presenting '84 Charing Cross Road' for their autumn production this year.

Based on the book by Helene Hanff, it was later made into a stage play about the 20-year correspondence between the author and Frank Doel, chief buyer of Marks and Co. Antiquarian Booksellers.

The warm, compassionate and very human exchange of letters is here skilfully and lovingly adapted for the stage. The evening promises fun, happiness, a little sadness and a lot goodwill.

The talented cast, led by Paul McGowan as Frank Doel and Suesi Windle as Helene Hanff also includes Megan Hirst, Andrea Cawley, Eddie Bootle, Kim Croydon, Elizabeth Wrigley, Isaac Tranmer and Rachel Scott. If you haven't been to a Stage Two production, now is your chance. Visit the lovely village of Downham, perhaps have a meal in a local hostelry, and then treat yourself to an enjoyable evening of amateur theatre in the village hall.

The first performance will be on Wednesday November 23rd and the play will run until Saturday the 26th at Downham village hall, commencing at 7.30pm nightly.

Tickets are £6 and available from Clitheroe Information Centre, in Church Walk, or from Fran Osborne on 01200 423301

CLITHEROE ADVERTISER AND TIMES
Thursday 17th November 2011

84 CHARING CROSS ROAD.... DOWNHAM

Stage Two Downham are presenting '84 Charing Cross Road' for their autumn production this year.

Based on the book by Helene Hanff, it was later made into a stage play about the 20-year correspondence between the author and Frank Doel, chief buyer of Marks and Co. Antiquarian Booksellers.

The warm, compassionate and very human exchange of letters is here skilfully and lovingly adapted for the stage. The evening promises fun, happiness, a little sadness and a lot goodwill.

The talented cast, led by Paul McGowan as Frank Doel and Suesi Windle as Helene Hanff also includes Megan Hirst, Andrea Cawley, Eddie Bootle, Kim Croydon, Elizabeth Wrigley, Isaac Tranmer and Rachel Scott. If you haven't been to a Stage Two production, now is your chance. Visit the lovely village of Downham, perhaps have a meal in a local hostelry, and then treat yourself to an enjoyable evening of amateur theatre in the village hall.

The first performance will be on Wednesday November 23rd and the play will run until Saturday the 26th at Downham village hall, commencing at 7.30pm nightly.

Tickets are £6 and available from Clitheroe Information Centre, in Church Walk, or from Fran Osborne on 01200 423301

CLITHEROE ADVERTISER AND TIMES

Thursday 17th November 2011